

Strike University presents, in collaboration with The Feminist Theory classroom at Montclair State University a series dreamt in conversation between Fawzia Afzal-Khan and Anuj Vaidya

Unsettling the Present: FemiQueer Frames

Fridays, 8:30-9:30am PST / 11:30am-12:30pm EST

livestream @

tinyurl.com/unsettlingthepresent

image credit: from convivialthinking.org

more info @ strikeu.org

In this three-part series, we invite artists, scholars, educators, and activists, working across transnational contexts to join us for a conversation about Traditional Ecological Knowledge, indigenous cosmopolitics, public education, and femiqueer futurities.

Oct 9: Autonomous Futures and the Pedagogy of the Seed

Targol Mesbah and Charlotte Maria Saenz will speak to their work with Zapatista Communities in Chiapas.

Oct 30: Activist Futures and the Pedagogy of Water

Kim Solga (Canada) and Alex Wilson (Opaskwayak Cree Nation) will speak to their work on activism and decolonizing/decolonial education.

Nov 20: Larval Futures and the Pedagogy of the Pluriverse

Larval Rock Stars (pilarvaidya) will engage us around practices that move from necrotic egocentrism to biotic ecocentrism.